

MarcEnsign :)*

entrepreneur, speaker, author, musician & all around do-gooder.

Entrepreneur, speaker, author, musician and all around do-gooder, Marc Ensign is a creative visionary who masterfully navigates the world of design, technology, social media and Internet marketing. With a gift for understanding the ins and outs of how things tick and an ability to translate it to others, Marc speaks, writes and creates for individuals and companies interested in leveraging the Internet in order to further develop their digital relationships and expand their businesses.

Prior to a successful career in Internet Marketing, Marc worked as a professional musician and became a regular in the Tony Award winning Broadway show “RENT” before going on to write and publish several instructional books and perform with artists such as R. Kelly, Joey Fatone (N*Sync) and Muzz Skillings (Living Colour) as well as an assortment of other musicians from bands like David Bowie, The Beach Boys, Matchbox 20 and Rod Stewart.

Motivated by the success he had in the music industry, Marc tapped into his entrepreneurial spirit in 2001 and founded Sound-n-Vision, a results driven Internet Marketing firm specializing in website design, search engine optimization and social networking. Having caught the attention of companies such as Nike, American Express, Travel+Leisure Magazine, Callaway Golf and countless others over the years, Sound-n-Vision continues to be recognized as an authority in new media and one of the leading firms on the east coast.

In addition to his award winning work with Sound-n-Vision, Marc is also a frequent keynote speaker and seminar facilitator. His workshops on digital marketing strategies such as search engine optimization, social networking and Internet marketing have coached and inspired audiences for over 3 years.

With a bio that is currently 20 years in the making, Marc has merely scratched the surface of what is possible. As he continues to spend each day committed to growing his clients businesses and engaging audiences, he is also working on a new book, blog and video series.